About the job

Your main duties will include:

- Set the vision and turn the customer's 'user experience' requirements into objectives
 - o Define and develop the Squad Use strategy and customer "user experience" requirements based on the information shared by the customer and/or determined by the market.
 - o Ensure that the definition of the acceptance criteria is consistent with the "user experience" requirements to be developed
 - o Ensuring that this vision is always appropriate for all parties involved (the customer, the CST Lead, the other Product Owners involved, etc.).

- Coach the members of the Squad

- o Coach a multidisciplinary team (Squad) (in a functional way) (e.g. Solution Manager, Service Manager Onboarding, Data Product Expert, UX/UI Designer, etc.).
 - o Identify the skills needed to form a high-performing multidisciplinary team capable of delivering the "user experience" requirements required by the customer and/or defined by the market and share these with the CST Lead and COE Leads.
 - o Provide feedback to the Chapter lead on the performance of the members of his Squad for the purpose of their evaluation.
- Understand customer and market needs.
 - o Collaborate and consult with customers (small to medium (complexity)) to identify their needs, expectations and any issues they may encounter in their user experience (e.g. app, website, platform shipping manager light, etc.).
 - o Through research, surveys or other techniques compare and track improvements to evolve the user experience
 - o Reflect the needs of the customer in the Squad
- Identify required competencies
- Define the Minimum Viable Product (MVP).
 - o Identify the Minimum Viable Product (MVP) and the functionalities corresponding to the MVP, taking into account customer needs and expectations as well as internal constraints related to available resources.
 - o Prioritize the order in which functionalities are processed based on commercial value and customer needs
- Define and manage the backlog of functionalities.
 - o Define the backlog of functionalities to be developed.
 - o Prioritize the order in which functionalities are processed based on commercial value and customer needs
 - o Create user stories, plan iterations, monitor progress and modify, validate and test the functionalities
 - o Regularly through interaction and communication with the customers keep them informed of the progress of the functionalities being developed and take into account the various comments when prioritizing the backlog.
- Assist the B2B customer.
 - o Support the customers during the integration process (onboarding), whether it is

- o starting a new customer or implementing an additional product/service for an existing customer.
 - o Provide training on how to use the service, including creating training materials, organizing face-to-face or online training sessions, and providing ongoing support during the initial usage phase
- Measure, maintain and manage the user experience
 - o Establish key performance indicators (KPIs) to assess the efficiency of the user experience (e.g., conversion rate, user retention, overall satisfaction)
 - o Collect feedback from customers
 - o Use performance indicators to identify areas for improvement and adjust/expand user experience functionalities to meet changing customer(s) or market needs
 - o Optimize processes to reduce costs and maintain profitability.
 - o Anticipate and evaluate the reasons for waning user experience.
